TV

Debuts March 15 at 10 p.m. on VH1.

Tough Love

Brace yourself for a peek inside the male mind as well-intentioned but harsh matchmaker Steven Ward puts eight relationship-challenged women through dating boot camp. And it's no walk in the park for the ladies, who are brutally critiqued by the men Steven calls on. Produced in part by Drew Barrymore, it's an eye-opening, entertaining and at times appalling look at the male psyche. —BKS

★★★½

Premieres March 20 at 10:30 p.m. on Starz.

Party Down

Booze. Nudity. Hookups. Sounds like a party! From seniors' singles soirees to neighborhood bashes, this witty series follows hapless cater waiters dreaming of their big break in Hollywood. RSVP immediately! —Karen Aanonsen

★★★½

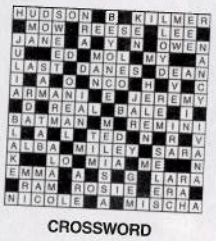
Premieres March 18 at 8:30 p.m. on NBC.

Better Off Ted

In this silly sitcom about office politics, research and development head Ted (Jay Harrington) deals with crazy ideas from his boss (Portia de Rossi). This one never should have gotten past the testing stage. —BKS

★½

ANSWERS TO THIS WEEK'S PUZZLE



CROSSWORD

he TV show I can't miss:

I'm a big fan of don Ramsay's n Nightmares. ome reality-TV ows are pretty damn good."

The shows I can't stand:

"Dancing With the Stars. I just don't dig it. The Bachelor doesn't do it for me either."

The last movie I walked out of:

"Mamma Mia. My 6-year-old daughter was in heaven, but my 8-year-old son was bored. We left and watched the end of The Rocker instead. He was much happier with that!"